h. All construction features of the station planned for facility of operations well utilized by operating personnel.

i. Staff memoranda and presentation charts would be of value to other bureaus since they reflect operational experience.

ADMINISTRATION

1. Inspection of the administration at this Bureau indicates:

a. Property records properly and adequately maintained.

b. Washington should provide field bureaus with an extra copy of Form 50, Notification of Personnel Action, obviating the necessity of making extra copies for file in the field.

c. The Bureau Chief should receive papers for processing new personnel prior to their receipt of telegraphic notice of acceptance.

d. Verification of Bureau records of accrued leave for employees as shown on monthly T/A records now done on yearly basis by Washington. This creates hardship in planning leave schedules.

e. Administrative officer is not a Notary Public, yet new employees require notarization of papers.

f. Bureau has surplus property on hand which would provide more storage space if properly disposed of (see attached list).

g. Medical examination and fingerprint forms not received for recent applicants.

h. Job descriptions require revision.

i. It is difficult to estimate delivery time or stock level of items on requisition if requisitions are cancelled or changed by Washington without giving the field notification of action taken.
